When Amex cancelled the W-2 health care credit continuation coverage, is there a statute of limitations period for Ms. Amato to file for a refund, or is she left to her own recourse? Further, should she attempt to file such a claim in the French Court system? Thanks, as always, for your responses, as amigo. [JHM] ANSWER: The three year statute of limitations for a refund of overpayment of $3,000 has expired. However, the insurance companies are reluctant to give the money back because they are now looking at a huge refund if they had to give the money back to each of the thousands of thousands of people affected by this decision. The insurance companies have known since 1973 that individuals in France are entitled to a COBRA continuation coverage plan. So, the insurance companies are being very cautious. [JD] QUESTION: I am a US citizen living abroad. I got a job in France while living there with my French husband. I filed for my taxes in France. Does my status as a US citizen affect my current status and what can I do when it comes to my taxes? Please help. [VAS] ANSWER: Yes, you are a resident for U.S. income tax purposes. Your home address is deemed to be the same as the address where you live in France. This means your home is considered as your residence for United States federal income tax purposes, and your home is your residence for U.S. income tax purposes. [JD] QUESTION: You can't get COBRA in France, can you? What happens if you apply for health insurance with your employer's Health Fund and you

"We have seen the dash-cam video and we know the whole truth that's on the video," he said. "So I think the [state's attorney] office will have no choice but to charge him, and I think that that will happen soon. I think it's in the works, that's what I would like to see, is for him to be arrested." Still, Williams, the president of the Dream Defenders, said he's not convinced Zimmerman will be arrested. "There's lots of pressure on the prosecutor, there's a lot of pressure on everybody, because this has been going on for so long," he said. "You know, we're not going to stop. People are tired of this, and they're tired of the media being blind to it. And they're tired of the president being blind to it. And people are tired of the law being blind to it." Listen Listening... / 0:38 Protesters are still on the grounds of the University of Georgia with their signs. They say they're prepared for the worst.Q: Zend_Auth Form Authentication with HTTP as backend - MySQL I have a system that makes use of Zend_Auth Form to authenticate users using their usernames and passwords. The backend system is a MySQL database. The only problem is that now I can't use the database login of the user but ZF gives me the table values. So something has to be done in the controller in order to use the real login. I have tried this: $userModel = new users(); $authId = $this->_helper->auth()->getIdentity();
